THE YEAR IN REVIEW

THE FIRST DAY OF SCHOOL

In just about every case, the first day of school is confusing and exciting. Exciting for the students that is. On the other hand the teachers are usually pulling their hair out by the end of the day. This year was no exception. September 1, 1981 was a wonderful day because it was one of the two days out of the year we didn't have much homework, or none at all. This year we only had math, but it was easy. I, for one, thought it was nice seeing my friends again and I'm sure others felt the same way. The first day was fun, but I can't wait until the last.

Jennifer Shadel

SPEAK OUT

"How did you feel on the first day of school?"

WANDA FERSTER (Grade 6) - "On the first day of school I felt kind of excited to see my friends again."

KELLY HOFFMAN (Grade 5) - "NERVOUS"

RENEE SNYDER (Grade 4) - "I felt happy because I like school and I was getting bored at home."

MR. BURDGE (Faculty) - "Exhilarated, exulted, excited, ecstatic, and with the help of an Excedrin, existed."

OPEN HOUSE

On November 12, 1981 Monroe's Open House was held. During this time, parents talked with teachers and viewed various work done by the pupils. While the parents were kept busy, the children who came were entertained with several movies.

CHRISTMAS MUSIC

For Christmas, the chorus and band put on an assembly. It was held in our auditorium. The band played "Up on the House Top" and "Jingle Bells". The chorus play was called "A Real Christmas". It was written by Christy Meiser and Jennifer Shadel. It was performed for the first through fourth grades, and some parents.

Jennifer Shadel

DOLLS GO ON STRIKE. THEY CLAIM THEY WANT SANTA.

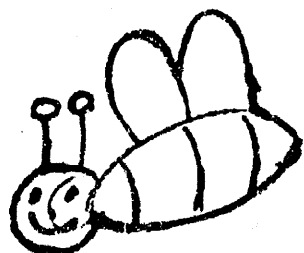

This was what the E.J. Speech Class play was about. The play was very good and so was the make-up. They had people dressed up to be dolls, for example, a football player, Fonzie, and some rag dolls. Afterwards, they sang songs. The best part was that we got out of class.

GUS

This year the teachers of our school were kind and generous enough to get us a Christmas movie. It was entitled, Gus.

It was about a Yugoslavian mule who was chosen to be on a football team. His position was "place kicker", but the only way he'd kick the ball was if his owner yelled something in Yugoslavian. Now the manager of the team made a bet that they'd win most of their games. It looked doubtful, until they got the mule. So the guy he made the bet with tries to take the mule. In the end everything turns out alright.

SPELLING BEE

On January 11, 1982 Monroe's Fifth Annual Spelling Bee was held for the fifth and sixth graders.

Mr. Swartz, Mrs. Diana Dressler, and Mrs. Miller were the judges. Mrs. LeBo was the pronouncer.

The fifth grade champion was Chris Spriggle, followed closely behind by runner up Joanna Knouse.

The sixth graders went through more than one hundred words before the bee finally resulted with champion Christy Meiser and runner up Anna Marie Inch.

Champions were awarded pins and certificates and runners up were awarded certificates.

THE SHRINE CIRCUS

Every year the sixth grade attends the Zembo Shrine Circus in Harrisburg, Pennsylvania.

This year the class of 88, on April 14, 1982, went. The bus ride there got fairly wild at times, but Mr. Burdge and Mr. Neimond, our chaperones, kept us pretty well under control.

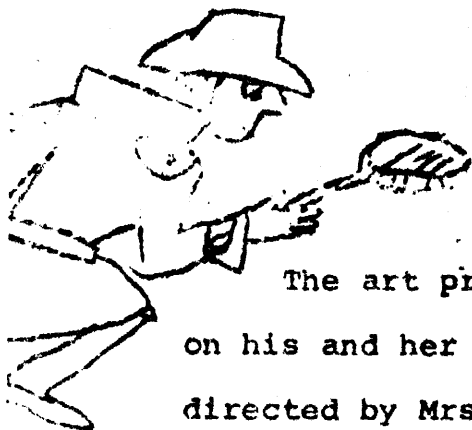

When we arrived at the circus, we found many interesting acts in store for us. These included the breath-taking Space Wheel, where a man actually walks around the outside of a wheel while in motion. And then, of course, there were the elephants, monkeys, lions, and tigers.

When finally leaving the building, we were filled with food and loaded down with souvenirs.

The bus ride home was quieter, with everyone recollecting the events of the circus. There were also a few cases of puppy love.

But all in all, speaking for all the sixth graders, I'd say we had a great time.

SCIENCE FAIR

The art projects in the hall were good. Everyone worked hard on his and her art projects and science experiments. And the play, directed by Mrs. Sheaffer, was very funny. Everyone worked very hard on his or her parts. To make things more life-like, Mr. Burdge made somewhat like a tent. Mrs. LeBo came up with an idea to make popcorn. It was marvelous. I think we all will remember the Science Fair for a long time.

Spongeball Season... Catch it!

This year's spongeball teams were as follows:
Expos - Scott Willow (team captain), David Willow (co-captain), Pirates - Tim Williams (team captain), Chris Spriggle (co-captain), Phillies - Jeff Powell (team captain), Jeff Messimer (co-captain), Dodgers, Tracy L. Snyder (team captain), Dale Seaman (co-captain).

The exchanges that took place were these. After six games the Expos were in first place and the Dodgers in last. The Dodgers took the Expos' Deron Brubaker and gave them Matt Hornberger.

After another four games, teams in last and first were the same. This time Kirk Stwartz went to the Expos and David Rowe went to the Dodgers.

Another four games were played and then there was the Allstars. The two top teams competed ~~between~~ between the Expos and Pirates. The Allstars wasn't completed because of practice for field day, but the one game that was played was won by the Expos.

The following were the standings for the season (Allstars not included.)

- | | | |
|---------------------|----------|---------|
| 1. EXPOS: WON; 11 | LOST; 3 | TIED; 0 |
| 2. PIRATES: WON; 7 | LOST; 6 | TIED; 1 |
| 3. PHILLIES: WON; 6 | LOST; 7 | TIED; 1 |
| 4. DODGERS: WON; 3 | LOST; 11 | TIED; 0 |

If I Were A Fly

If I were a fly, my dear,
I'd crawl inside your fuzzy ear.
Buzz on your dreams
looking for crumbs
of thoughts of me.

If I were a fly, my sweet,
I'd gallop across your smelly feet.
Between your toes
delighting my nose
with that balmy breeze.

If I were a fly, cutie pie,
I'd swim in the pool of your eye.
Splish and splash
I'd swing on a lash
into the depths of your stare.

If I were a fly, my Orphan Annie,
I'd tap dance on your fanny.
Tip to toe to and fro. . .
Please don't take a seat.

If I were a fly, my prickly pear,
I'd stalk the jungle of your hair.
Stomping through roots'
in my combat boots
tangled in silken threads.

If I were a fly, my only sin,
I'd play hopscotch on your chin.
5,6,7
Oh, such heaven.
To play on such a hill.

If I were a fly, sweet pea,
I'd sit upon that dimpled knee.
A chop to the patella -
Such a jumpy fella.
)Just call me Bruce Flea.)

If I were a fly, my sugar plum,
I'd pirouette lightly on your thumb.
Twist and turn;
Oh, how I'd yearn
to leap from tip to tip.
